Union Flatly Rejects
U. S. Steel ProposalsOffer Is Said
To Be Under
5 Cents Hour

PITTSBURGH, June 22 (AP)—The CIO United Steelworkers powerful 170-member Wage Policy Committee today flatly turned down a contract offer submitted by U. S. Steel Corp., bellwether of the industry.

David J. McDonald, president of the steelworkers union, said at a news conference immediately after the policy makers meeting that U. S. Steel's proposals are "completely unsatisfactory."

U. S. Steel had no comment. The union chief declined to say what the company offer included, but it was reliably reported that he told his Wage Policy Committee the corporation offer amounted to a package of less than five cents an hour.

Would Some Welcome Strike?
The union chief is also reported to have told the committee that some persons of high position with U. S. Steel would welcome a strike.

McDonald reportedly made no mention of these persons by name but did tell the committee that U. S. Steel Chairman Benjamin F. Fairless was not included in the statement.

The union president said at the news conference that the Wage Policy Committee "voted complete confidence in and approved the report of the international (union) officers on the state of negotiations."

McDonald declined to discuss the "state of negotiations" at the press conference. He did say the statement could be interpreted as meaning the union and company have differences.

The Wage Policy Committee adjourned after a session which lasted about an hour and a half. McDonald said the committee has a tentative date to meet here again next week.

Pact Expires June 30

McDonald said the union executive officers will press the industry to intensify negotiations with day and night sessions from now until the contract expires June 30. The union would be free to strike after that date. No negotiations are scheduled at this time, he said.

The union president said: "I hope to have something, which I can recommend to them (the committee) as a satisfactory settlement when they meet again."

The union leader asked reporters to underline the word hope and stressed that he meant it to mean he was expressing a desire and not a condition that he expects to exist.

In Washington, government officials said they expect the current contract to be extended and that a statement would probably be made to that effect in Pittsburgh.

Senate Takes Up
Trade Acts Bill

* WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Sen. Robertson (D-Va.) said today President Eisenhower "asked for bread" in the form of a liberalized foreign trade program but that Republican congressional leaders voted "to give him a stone."

The Virginian described as "an empty gesture" the one-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements law passed by the House and supported by administration spokesmen in the Senate.

Robertson was a leadoff speaker in behalf of a substitute offered by 22 Democrats and Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) to extend the 20-year-old law three years and give the President new powers to cut tariffs.

The President originally asked Congress for this program, then agreed to take the one-year bill after key House Republicans balked at his first proposal. The President said he wanted Congress to consider his original plan next year.

Robertson said the original Eisenhower recommendations amounted to merely a "modest" broadening of the present law, but would "represent a decided change of heart on the part of the Republican party."

Boreman Nominated

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower today nominated 56-year-old Herbert S. Boreman of Parkersburg, W. Va., to be federal judge for Northern West Virginia.

He was nominated to succeed the late Judge William E. Baker, who retired from the bench April 3 and died June 4 at the age of 81.

Administration
Opposes Denying
Pension To Hiss

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The Eisenhower administration took the position today that Alger Hiss has a legal right to a $700-a-year government pension despite his conviction of falsely denying that he gave secrets to a Communist spy ring.

Both the Civil Service Commission and the Budget Bureau, a White House office, held that the government is obligated to go forward with retirement pay to federal employees even though they are imprisoned for criminal acts. They opposed pending legislation to deny the pension to Hiss.

Rep. Clardy "Aghast"

Repercussions were prompt and critical. Rep. Clardy (R-Mich.), author of one of several bills designed to make sure that the imprisoned ex-official gets no retirement benefits, said the administration attitude "leaves me aghast, enraged, boiling mad."

Rep. St. George (R-N.Y.), author of another bill, called it "inconceivable to me that persons who have violated their trust—these convicted felons—should receive the same benefits as thousands of government employees who serve their country well."

Hiss, who'll be 50 years old next Nov. 11, rose to an influential post in the State Department in the 14 years 9 months he worked for the government. That length of service would qualify him for a $700 pension starting Dec. 1, 1966.

Sentenced To Five Years

On Jan. 15, 1950, after leaving the government, he was convicted of perjury in denying he ever slipped government secrets to Whittaker Chambers, a courier for a pre-war Russian spy ring. Sentenced to five years, he entered federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., March 28, 1951 and could get out on good behavior next November. He has been turned down twice on a parole.

Top American
Scientist Dies

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Dr. Karl T. Compton, 66, a top American scientist and one of the most brilliant minds behind the wartime development of radar and the atom bomb, died today.

He was chairman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was president of MIT for 18 years until he retired in 1948 to supervise scientific preparedness for the nation in the cold war with communism. He held the government post for a year.

Dr. Compton suffered a heart attack last Wednesday. He died in Cornell Medical Center here at 4:30 p.m. EDT.

A man of seemingly endless energy, he won the Army's highest civilian award during World War II—the Medal for Merit. With it came a citation crediting him with being "personally responsible for hastening the termination of hostilities."

Tobacco Law Tightened

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower signed today a bill increasing the penalty for excess marketing of tobacco from 40 to 50 per cent of the average market price.

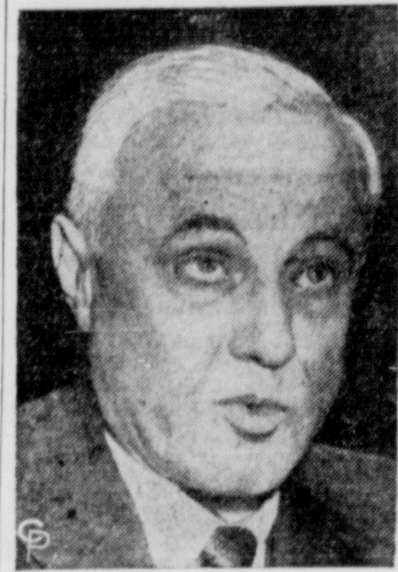

Preservation Of Free Japan
Vital To U. S., President Says

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower declared it is "absolutely mandatory" to this nation's security that Japan be spared from falling under the domination of the communism spreading over Asia.

In an address before the National Editorial Assn., Eisenhower indicated that the preservation of a free Japan is the keystone of American policy in Southeast Asia and the Pacific.

If the Kremlin and the rulers of Red China are able to control the vast resources of Asia and give Japan the task of providing naval strength, the President said, the Pacific could become "a Communist lake."

Speaking with utmost serious-

SCIENTIST DEAD—Dr. Karl T. Compton (above), a top American scientist who helped to develop radar and the atom bomb, died in New York yesterday. He was chairman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Greatest Flood
Is Rolling Down
On Des Moines

DES MOINES, June 22 (AP)—This city of 178,000 was in an official state of emergency tonight as residents responded to a call to prepare themselves for their greatest flood.

Gov. William S. Beardsley, meantime, called on President Eisenhower to designate 19 flood-stricken Iowa counties as disaster areas so they may qualify for federal aid.

The Des Moines crisis mounted steadily.

The flood is due to go three feet higher than any previously known with a crest of 29 to 30 feet by Thursday morning. It is rolling slowly down the Des Moines River basin from Boone, 60 miles upstream.

"No Time For Panic"
Mayor Joseph Van Dresser's proclamation of a flood emergency was coupled with this word from City Manager Leonard Howell:

"This city is faced with the worst flood situation in its entire history. It is no time for panic. People who cannot stand the predicted flood stage should move to safety immediately."

"Business and manufacturing establishments should take note and govern themselves accordingly and immediately. Your city government will do everything within its power to protect the levees which we have and to protect life and property."

Levees Sandbagged

The Des Moines River flows directly through the center of the city. It runs through a secondary residential area and past the business, commercial and railroad district. The main business district is out of reach of flooding.

Large-scale sandbagging of levees was under way. Disaster evacuation centers were being prepared.

The direct peril to Des Moines was the latest major development in a solid week of continuing flood crises throughout northwest and north central Iowa. It came as Iowa had its first generally fair day following two weeks of torrential rains throughout northern Iowa.

Compromise Reached

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Senate-House conferees today broke a long deadlock and reached agreement on a lease-purchase bill expected to touch off a multi-billion dollar government building program.

ness to the convention of editors of 5,200 weekly newspapers, the President declared Japan to be the "key to the defense" of the Western Pacific.

"So it becomes absolutely mandatory for us that Japan does not fall under the domination of the Soviets or into the hands of the Kremlin," the President said.

Eisenhower appealed to the editors to weigh all facts carefully in presenting the crucial issues of foreign affairs to the public.

Reminding the editors that "truth comprises more than knowledge," the President said he frequently hears more kinds of assertions which in themselves are truths but which must be tempered with wisdom and understanding.

Lodge Cool To Call For New
U. N. Meeting

Guatemala, Saying
Resolution Ignored,
Requests Session

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., June 22 (AP)—Guatemala's leftist government tonight called for a second urgent meeting of the U.N. Security Council to be held tomorrow, but the council president indicated he would not call it.

Ambassador Eduardo Castillo Arriola dispatched late today to Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., U.S. delegate and council president for June, a formal telegram asking for the meeting because, he said, "acts of aggression" against Guatemala are continuing.

Before that definite demand for a meeting was received, a spokesman for Lodge had stated that it was doubtful that there would be a meeting in view of the fact that the Guatemalan situation is before the Organization of American States.

Lodge's Advice

Lodge himself issued a statement saying that he had been glad to have the urgent meeting last Sunday but the government of Guatemala should not lend itself to an "obvious Communist plot lest they appear to be a cat's paw of the Soviet conspiracy to meddle in the Western Hemisphere."

"The Security Council showed last Sunday by a vote of 10-1 that it emphatically believed that the Organization of American States was the place to try to settle the Guatemalan problem," he said. "To fly squarely in the face of this recommendation would raise grave doubts as to the good faith of those who make such requests."

"Aggression" Continues
In his telegram to Lodge, sent almost simultaneously with the release of Lodge's statement, Castillo Arriola said:

"Have great honor to inform you a resolution adopted by the Security Council on Sunday has not been complied with by those members of the United Nations who have been helping those committing from their territory the acts of aggression from which Guatemala is suffering."

"Within the last 48 hours the aggressive actions of invasion have continued by air, sea, and land, and army of Guatemala is repelling the invaders."

"In view of that, I ask you to call a meeting of the Security Council if possible on the 23rd of June in order that that high body may take the necessary steps."

Don Hollenbeck
Commits Suicide

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Don Hollenbeck, 49, CBS TV news commentator, committed suicide by gas today in his Manhattan apartment. He had been in ill health.

Hollenbeck, a University of Nebraska graduate, worked for newspapers, the Office of War Information, NBC and ABC before joining CBS in 1946.

Clad in shorts and bathrobe, he was found lying on the kitchen floor. All burners on the gas stove were open. Dr. Emanuel A. Neuren, assistant medical examiner, pronounced death suicidal.

John Gude, the newscaster's agent, said Hollenbeck had been suffering from bleeding ulcers.

He said Hollenbeck was too ill to present his usual 10 p.m. (EST) nationwide newscast last night and barely had been able to finish his newscast the night before.

A friend of Hollenbeck's, Milton Stern, an assistant dean of New York University, spent some time with him last night and prevailed on him to forego last night's newscast because of his health. Robert Trout took Hollenbeck's place.

Earth Slide Kills
West Virginia Boy

BECKLEY, W. Va., June 22 (AP)—An 8-year-old boy died of suffocation when he was buried by a slide of earth and mud while playing near a strip mine site at Piney View, Raleigh County.

The victim of the accident yesterday was Michael Flannery, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Flannery of Piney View.

A second boy, 10-year-old Richard Merle Clendenin, was dug out after being buried up to his chest. He was treated for shock.

Plane Crash Fatal To Four

Police keep the curious from this private plane which crashed near the Municipal Airport at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday, killing the four occupants. The plane, which had just refueled, was unable to gain altitude after its takeoff. It struck a tree and plunged to the ground near a house, bursting into flames. No one on the ground was injured.

Report On Hearings
By Aug. 1 Probers Aim
Jenkins Will Summarize Testimony

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The McCarthy-Army hearings committee today assigned Special Counsel Ray H. Jenkins to summarize its testimony, and agreed to try to reach its own conclusions by Aug. 1.

Chairman Mundt (R-SD) said Jenkins' job is to list salient points of controversy for the committee's consideration—"to prepare the balance sheet without striking a balance."

Jenkins, who was called from his Knoxville law practice to serve as the committee's counsel in its 36 days of stormy open hearings, will take the huge record back to his Tennessee farm and do the summary there. Mundt said Jenkins thought he could get it drawn up in three or four weeks.

McClellan Out Of Town

Six of the seven committee members—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark)—was out of town—attended today's closed door meeting.

Mundt said each of the six took into the meeting listings of the salient points they want the committee to cover in its formal report. He said they showed a "great similarity" of thinking as to what the key points of controversy are.

The chairman also said there was a feeling that unless the committee members could agree on about 10 or fewer salient points of the controversy as the basis for a report, there was little hope of getting any verdict by the Aug. 1 target date.

Salient Charges Listed
The salient charges—denied by the other side in each case—were these:

By the Army—That Sen. McCarthy and his aides brought improper pressure on the Army to get favors for draftee G. David Schine, a former consultant on McCarthy's investigations subcommittee.

By the McCarthy camp—That Secretary of the Army Stevens and Army Counselor John G. Adams tried to "blackmail" the McCarthy subcommittee into dropping a search for Communists in the Army.

Report Inconclusive,
Tobacco Group Says

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—The tobacco industry said today more study is needed to determine the causes of cancer and heart disease.

It described as "preliminary" a report by the American Cancer Society that indicated heavy smoking tends to reduce the life span, at least for men aged 50 to 70.

The tobacco industry research committee said data in the report "would be more useful when all the work has been completed and fully analyzed and set forth as established custom in scientific journals."

It declared the report "points up the need for further extensive research to discover the causes of cancer and cardio-vascular diseases."

Gleason Marriage Ends

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Mrs. Genevieve Gleason won a separation in a five minute Supreme Court hearing today to end her 17-year marriage to comedian Jackie Gleason. The grounds were abandonment.

McCarthy-Army
Hearings Draw
McCarran's Fire

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) today denounced the McCarthy-Army hearings as a spectacle at which "communism grinned and applauded, (while) Americanism stood still, frustrated, in horror and amazement."

McCarran said in a Senate speech that "rightly or wrongly, the idea has taken hold in the minds of the people of America that Sen. McCarthy represents anti-communism."

"The tragedy of the situation is that through these hearings just concluded, it has appeared to millions of Americans, and to millions abroad, that anti-communism was here under attack, that the forces opposing . . . the world Communist conspiracy were being discredited."

Pvt. G. David Schine
Back At Camp Gordon

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 22 (AP)—Pvt. G. David Schine, controversial figure in the McCarthy-Army hearings, is back at Camp Gordon. Schine was assigned to a new detachment where he will be with a military police reserve officers training corps summer encampment unit.

Sources at the camp said Schine probably would be an instructor and definitely would not be an ROTC candidate.

June Haver May Renounce
Religion For Love Of Actor

HOLLYWOOD, June 22 (AP)—June Haver, who entered a Roman Catholic convent less than two years ago, intends to renounce that religion because of love for Fred Macmurray.

If they go through with announced plans for a civil marriage, the petite actress will be deprived of the sacraments of the Catholic church. A priest friend says she will be "out of the fold" if she remarries in violation of Catholic church law.

Close friends have disclosed that the religious aspects of her impending marriage to Macmurray grieved her deeply but that falling in love with the handsome actor was something she had not counted on and couldn't help.

Her romance with Macmurray, a Presbyterian, began shortly after she returned to Hollywood from probationary entry of a Kansas convent after a brief marriage.

Higher Grocery
Price Tags Send
Living Costs Up

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—Higher grocery prices forced living costs up three tenths of one per cent in May, reversing a three-month downward trend.

Retail price tags on meats, fresh fruits and vegetables, frozen juices and coffee all were higher in May and contributed largely to an increase of eight tenths of one per cent in the food part of the government's cost of living index.

The over-all living cost rise between April 15 and May 15 brought the index kept by the Bureau of Labor Statistics to 115.0 per cent of 1947-49 average prices.

Rise Partly Seasonal

This is about one per cent higher than a year ago when the index was 114.0. It reached a peak of 115.4 last October and has declined fractionally every month since then except in January and May. But it still is close to the October record.

May's higher food prices were partly seasonal, with new crops of fruits and vegetables coming to market at initially high prices.

Ewan Clague, chief of the statistics bureau, said recent "quite sharp declines" for cattle, hogs and wheat in commodity markets gave some promise of lower retail food prices soon.

Prices Generally Stable

Clague said retail prices generally are continuing at a stable level and probably will remain that way for some time to come, barring an international crisis.

Except for higher foods, other prices changed very little in May. The index of housing costs advanced three tenths of one per cent due to an annual revision to take account of changes in tax, mortgage and insurance charges. Clothing prices and medical costs were up slightly.

Death Penalty Bill

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—A House Judiciary subcommittee today approved a bill providing for the death penalty for peace-time espionage.

Mendes-France,
Chou To Confer

GENEVA, June 22 (AP)—French Premier Mendes-France will make the first move of his "peace in a month" campaign for Indochina by meeting tomorrow with Red China's Chou En-lai in Bern, capital of Switzerland.

Word of the meeting came as the 24th formal session of the Indochina peace talks broke up for the day here. It apparently accomplished little more than to emphasize old differences.

The Red Chinese announcement of tomorrow's meeting in Bern said it would take place "while the French Premier is in Bern for a call on the Swiss government."

Mendes-France, in Paris, said he planned to thank the Swiss for hospitality to the conference. And to talk to Chou about "the state of the conference's work."

Chou is then scheduled to fly to New Delhi for a meeting with Prime Minister Nehru, enroute home to Peking.

Mendes-France told the French Assembly last week he would quit if he did not end the Indochina War by July 20. He is acting as his own foreign minister.

Rebels Set Up
Headquarters
In Guatemala

Insurgent Leader
Plans To Establish
Own Regime Today

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 22 (AP)—The Foreign Ministry said tonight unidentified planes today bombed the town of Santa Rosa de Copan, Honduras, about 21 miles from the Guatemalan border.

The brief bulletin from the Foreign Ministry gave no further details nor did it say whether anyone had been hurt.

Santa Rosa de Copan is an important road junction. It has not previously figured in the invasion of Guatemala by Guatemalan insurgents.

Rebel Headquarters
Moved Into Guatemala

EQUIPULAS, Guatemala, June 22 (AP)—Col. Carlos Castillo Armas, leader of the anti-Communist Guatemalan forces, today established headquarters of his rebel regime at Equipulas, about six miles from the Honduran border.

An earlier announcement in Honduras said the rebel army field headquarters was set up at Camotan Village, about 20 miles inside Guatemala.

The insurgent leader said "the anti-Communist forces are not fighting the Guatemalan army or the Guatemalan people, only the Communist government."

Castillo Armas said the reason for not pushing the fighting any faster is that the insurgents "do not want unnecessary bloodshed."

A C47 plane dropped supplies to the insurgents at the Equipulas airport.

Castillo Armas said he was setting up a provisional government tomorrow and would make the announcement at that time. He said all members of his Cabinet would be there when the formal announcement is made.

So far, he said, there have been no heavy engagements with the federal troops, but, he added, there have been several minor skirmishes and some casualties. He would not say how many.

Insurgents Occupy
Three More Towns

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 22 (AP)—Rebel invaders of Guatemala announced tonight they had moved their "liberation army" headquarters from neighboring Honduras to the village of Camotan, some 20 miles inside Guatemala.

A communique issued here said the anti-Communist forces trying to overthrow the Red-tinted government of President Jacobo Arben Guzman have occupied three other villages near Camotan and have destroyed two bridges near the vital rail town of Zapaca and another bridge across the Motagua River between Gualan and Morales.

The communique acknowledged the fight for control of Guatemala's main port city, Puerto Barrios, still had not placed it in rebel hands and communications between it and the capital, Guatemala City, had not been cut off as yet.

Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge reported from Guatemala City that major interest among authorities there was centered on the battle building up for possession of Puerto Barrios, on the Atlantic-Caribbean side.

Studebaker, Packard Merger Plans Bared; Vote Set Aug. 17

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—Two of America's oldest independent auto makers—Studebaker and Packard—will combine forces in their fight for a bigger share of the car market, if their stockholders approve.

Shareholders will vote on Aug. 17, on whether the two companies shall be joined in the Studebaker-Packard Corp.

Plans for the consolidation were announced today by James J. Nance and Hugh J. Ferry, respectively president and board chairman of Packard, and Harold S. Vance and Paul G. Hoffman, holding the same positions with Studebaker.

The two concerns reported a net worth, as of last April 30, of approximately 189 million dollars and working capital of about 87 million. Their combined assets are 233 million.

If approved by shareholders the new company will have Hoffman as board chairman and Nance as president and principal executive officer. Ferry will retire from the post of Packard board chairman, and Vance will become chairman of the executive committee.

Technically the proposed consolidation involves the purchase by Packard of the Studebaker assets. Packard shareholders will vote on a plan to reclassify their common stock holdings on the basis of one share in the new company for five of their present holdings.

With this agreed upon Studebaker stockholders will receive one and one-half shares of the new company's stock for each share of present Studebaker stock they own.

The result of the stock transactions will be that Studebaker-Packard corp. will own both businesses and have outstanding 6,440,455 shares of which 3,542,187 will be held by Studebaker stockholders and 2,898,268 shares by Packard stockholders.

Officials of the two companies said executive offices will be maintained at both South Bend and Detroit. They added that "employment at plants of both companies can be expected to increase as the Studebaker-Packard Corp. successfully achieves a larger penetration of the market."

Husband Of Actress Charged With Assault

SANTA MONICA, Calif., June 22 (AP)—Marie McDonald's wealthy husband was charged with felonious assault today after two news photographers charged he tried to run them down as he was driving the actress home from the police station in nearby Beverly Hills.

She was arrested yesterday and charged with driving while under the influence of a drug. Police said her car struck four automobiles and that she tried to bite two officers later when they put her in a jail cell.

She was released without bond when her husband and his attorney went to the police station.

Ike Happy Over Sen. Smith's Win

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—President Eisenhower and several senators today expressed pleasure over Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's resounding renomination victory in yesterday's Maine Republican primary.

Mrs. Smith, who served eight years in the House before her first election to the Senate in 1948, kept her primary and election record unmarred by her better than 5-1 defeat of Robert L. Jones, 34.

In the Sept. 13 state election she will face Paul F. Sullivan, Colby College history professor and a Democrat.

"The President has great admiration for Sen. Smith and was highly pleased by the results," White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters. He said he showed the results to the President this morning before the secretary's daily news conference.

Neither the President nor any of the colleagues of Mrs. Smith made any reference to the fact that her opponent is a strong supporter of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.), or to Sen. Smith's claim that McCarthy apparently planted Jones in the race deliberately.

Giant U. S. Jet Bombers Fly Non-Stop To Japan

TOKYO, Wednesday, June 23 (AP)—Three giant U. S. jet bombers, built to carry America's mightiest atomic weapons, flew 6,700 miles non-stop from California to Japan yesterday on a training flight.

It was the first appearance in the troubled Orient for the six-jet B47 Stratojets, which soon will replace the lumbering B29 propeller-driven bombers in the Far East.

It took the trail-blazing stratojets a little more than 16 hours to fly from March Field, Calif., to Yokota Air Base near Tokyo. They twice were refueled in air—once over Hawaii and again over Midway.

Bill To Provide Corn Belt Vote On Price Props

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The House Agriculture Committee voted today to let Corn Belt farmers choose between rigid and flexible price supports on their 1956 corn crop.

Experts said that one probable effect of the provision, as written into the nearly completed farm bill, would be another year of rigid high price supports on corn, with continued acreage controls.

The vote comes at a time when the Eisenhower administration is plugging for legislation providing for a gradual shift from the present rigid 90 per cent of parity price supports on major crops to a more flexible system. There is considerable opposition to this in Congress.

The proposal approved today offered by Rep. Hoeven (R-Iowa) and backed by corn states members. Under it, the secretary of agriculture would be required in December, 1955, to conduct a referendum among corn farmers on a 1956 program providing either:

1. Price supports on corn at 90 per cent of parity with whatever acreage allotments were considered necessary, or
2. No acreage controls, but with the secretary of agriculture empowered to set government price supports at a level between 75 and 90 per cent of parity.

Cheating Device Saves Baby's Life

TOKYO, June 22 (AP)—A powerful magnet devised to cheat a pachinko game, Japan's version of pin ball, today saved the life of a baby who swallowed a steel pachinko ball.

Doctors were unable to dislodge the ball from the throat of five-week-old Kazuhiro Matsumoto. An appeal to the police uncovered the confiscated magnet, used to guide balls into high scoring holes on the pachinko board.

The magnet was so powerful it pulled the steel ball from the baby's throat and the youngster is on the road to recovery, the Asahi Evening News reported.

London Disarmament Talks End In Failure

LONDON, June 22 (AP)—Diplomatic officials said today Russia and four Western powers have failed to agree on proposals for atomic and conventional disarmament and ended a six-week conference on the subject.

The conference was composed of representatives of the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Russia, who convened here May 13 as a subcommittee of the United Nations Disarmament Commission. Committee spokesmen said records of the 20 executive sessions will be released Thursday.

Western officials said the western powers offered a broad new plan to end the world arms race in both atomic and conventional weapons, but the Soviets rejected it. On the other hand, the four Allies rejected a Soviet plan calling for U.S.-Russian agreement to renounce use of atomic weapons and a pledge by the big four powers and Red China to renounce use of all weapons of mass destruction.

Edward Davey Wins Truck Firm Battle

ANNAPOLIS, June 22 (AP)—J. Edward Davey won a victory in the Court of Appeals today in his fight for the presidency and half the voting stock of a Hagerstown trucking company.

The court declared Harry G. Masser's "efforts to reissue the stock and oust Davey as president, director and stockholder, were abortive."

Circuit Judge Joseph D. Mish in Washington County had ruled Davey was entitled to 50 per cent of the voting stock in Accelerated Transport-Pony Express Inc., but that he was not entitled to his position as president.

But the appeals court said the lower court decision erred in upholding the validity of a Feb. 19, 1953, meeting at which Masser ousted Davey and reissued the stock.

Davey, formerly with a New York trucking firm, testified he agreed to buy the stock for $500

Md. Government Workers Number Under U. S. Average

Maryland has fewer state and local government employees per 10,000 persons than the national average, but is higher than the mean in the number employed in health and hospitals and for police and fire protection.

Orville C. Demaree of the U. S. Census Bureau's district office in Baltimore reported that as of last October state and local government employment in Maryland was estimated at 61,587 or 239.5 for each 10,000 residents. This compares with a nationwide average of 280.5 for every 10,000 persons.

Marylanders employed in health and hospitals for state and local governments average 33.8 per 10,000 persons compared with the national average of 28.3. In police and fire protection, the Maryland figure is 23 compared with 21.9 on a national basis.

In education, highways and streets, natural resources and all others, Maryland is below the national average, Demaree reports.

School employment accounted for 26,560 of the 64,849 persons who were on state and local government payrolls in Maryland last October, Demaree said. The numbers included some employed only part-time.

On the average, full-time state and local government employees in Maryland earned $290 for the month of October, 1953. The comparable nationwide average was $285 per full-time employee.

A breakdown of the Maryland total of 64,849 shows 18,115 persons working for the state government and 46,734 for local governments.

The distribution of employees:

Activity	Full-time employees per 10,000 persons	Maryland	All U.S.
Education	96.3	106.7	106.7
Highways and streets	21.4	26.5	26.5

Employee To Head Safety Program

James W. Fatkin, an employee at the local Post Office, has returned after taking a five-day course of instruction in motor vehicle safety given by the Post Office Department in Washington.

Fatkin will be in charge of a motor vehicle accident prevention program designed to reduce loss of manpower and material resulting from accidents involving personnel either on or off the job, according to Postmaster Thomas F. Conlon.

Under the nation-wide program, being conducted by the Department's Bureau of Personnel under Assistant Postmaster General Eugene J. Lyons, with the assistance of the American Automobile Association — pioneers in the field of driver education — Fatkin received driving instructor's training. This training consisted of a comprehensive course in the techniques of safe postal motor vehicle operation.

Fatkin was selected on the basis of ability, leadership, and personality traits.

This is the second major highway safety stop initiated by the Post Office Department under Summerfield. The first was in May when the Department ordered that new contracts for mail-carrying trucks and contract highway post offices must contain clauses requiring contractors to comply with Interstate Commerce Commission Motor Carrier Safety Regulations.

Army Transfers Local Instructor

Capt. James C. Welch, Regular Army instructor assigned to the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment, has been transferred to Alaska.

Capt. Welch assumed his position here June 1952 after completing an advanced officers training course at Fort Benning, Ga. Prior to entering the Fort Benning school, he served a year in combat in Korea.

A graduate of the U. S. Military Academy at West Point in 1946, he served from 1947 to 1950 in the Panama Canal Zone before being assigned to Korea.

Capt. Welch and his family of two daughters and a son, the latter being born in Cumberland March 13, will leave here next week for the West Coast.

At Seattle on August 5 they will board a ship for Alaska and the assignment at Fort Richardson, which is five miles from Anchorage.

Capt. Welch succeeded Col. Lewis J. Shropshire in 1952. He said his successor has not been named by the Army.

His duties have been in an instructional advisory capacity with Company A in Frederick; Company B, Hagerstown; Company C and Headquarters Company, this city, and Company D, Frostburg.

You'll feel more at home in any social situation if you know how to make introductions properly.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Some women respond naturally and gracefully in any social situation; others seem ill-at-ease, as though so concerned with doing and saying "just the right thing" that they can't enjoy themselves.

There are rules of etiquette covering almost any given action or occasion. Yet if you ask yourself only two simple questions, you will more than likely be doing or saying the right thing.

The questions are these: Is it natural? Is it sensible?

Rules of Thumb

Regarding introductions, for example, you are guided by these simple rules of thumb: the younger woman is presented to the older woman; the younger man to the older man; the man to the woman. (There are exceptions, of course, that depend upon rank or official position, but you will be able to consult a book of etiquette in advance.)

Suppose you are introducing a man to a woman. If the occasion is informal and you prefer to use names only, mention first the name of the person being introduced: "Mr. Phillips, Miss Barnes." Or, more formally, "Miss Barnes, may I present Mr. Phillips?"

Knowing the general rules, you may still feel awkward about introductions in circumstances such as these: When walking with a friend and you meet another friend, should the strangers be introduced? When giving a party should you, as hostess, introduce a newcomer to everyone in the room? If, at a party, you encounter someone whom you have not met, should you introduce yourself?

Just apply my two questions to each of these situations. What is the natural, sensible way to make the social situation easier?

What To Do

If the passer-by stops to chat for more than a moment, doesn't it seem natural to introduce your companion? Since introducing a newcomer to 30 or 40 people would interrupt half a dozen conversations, doesn't it seem more natural to introduce her only to the group nearest at hand? If you run into someone you don't know, isn't it more natural, more sensible to in-

Hearings Slated By Kelly, Union

Arbitration hearings will be held tomorrow at the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company conference room on two disputes between the company and Local 26, United Rubber Workers of America (CIO), concerning Departments 56 and 41, according to William G. Rice, union president.

G. Allen Dash, of Philadelphia, will be the arbiter. The dispute in Department 56 concerns tube mold changes while in Department 41 it concerns an interpretation of the contract.

The entertainment committee of the union met yesterday at 7:30 p. m. at the union hall and completed plans for the annual dance to be held at the State Armory on Saturday, June 26.

Rice said the usual Saturday night membership meeting on July 3 has been cancelled due to the Fourth of July holiday week end and the series of meetings will be resumed July 10 at the union hall.

Introduce yourself than to stand icily by without speaking? You see, these matters of etiquette are simple, really. Concern for rules and regulations shouldn't set up a barrier between you and doing what comes naturally—and charmingly.

Fund Bill Set For Flood Work In Cumberland

A House-Senate conference committee Monday agreed on an appropriation bill for Army civil functions, mostly for navigation and river projects.

The Cumberland-Ridgeley Flood Protection Works would receive $500,000 for the fiscal year that begins July 1.

This is the amount that the Federal Bureau of the Budget set after paring down an original request for an appropriation of approximately $900,000.

Attempts to have the budget request restored failed in the Senate and House of Representatives, which is experiencing an economy drive in such appropriations.

Corps of Army Engineers fiscal officials have informed City of Cumberland officials the half-million dollars will go toward the completion of the West Side flood wall, and finish paying for the Cumberland-Ridgeley dam and the Wills Creek paving project.

The compromise bill now goes to both the House and Senate for consideration.

The total appropriation bill as agreed by the joint conference committee as it goes back to the House and Senate calls for $457,071,300.

The House had approved $430,983,000 and the Senate hiked the total to $484,095,500.

These totals compare with President Eisenhower's budget recommendations of $465,160,000.

There are only eight million inhabitants of the Australian continent.

Spraying Urged To Combat Insect

Allegany County farmers who grow alfalfa are urged to use a spray to combat the leafhopper which is attacking the plants, according to Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Steger said many farmers are spraying and it has been shown in the past that alfalfa which has been sprayed against the leafhopper gives yields from 10 to 13 per cent greater than that which is not treated.

The leafhopper often causes severe injury to the second and later cuttings of alfalfa, Steger pointed out. These small green insects suck the juice from the leaves of alfalfa, stunt the crop and turn it yellow.

When the yellowing of the alfalfa is noticed farmers are urged to spray with methoxychlor on the basis of one quart of emulsifiable

WHEN it comes to sales, every car maker aspires to be up at the top of his price class.

Which is only natural. Popularity like that means success.

We know, because for years Buick has held such an envied position—the unquestioned sales leader in its class. And with good reasons in styling, room, power, value.

But today, folks like you have pushed Buick success even beyond such bounds.

Today, the top sales standings of a full generation have been changed.

Today, latest sales figures for the first four months of 1954 reveal this phenomenal fact:

In total national volume, regardless of price class, Buick is outselling all cars in America except two of the so-called "low-price three."

That's a tip too good to pass up.

That's the tip-off that Buick must have the hottest styling of the times and the sweetest performance of the year.

More important, that's the tip-off that Buick prices are well within the reach of more and more people—and that such prices buy a lot more automobile per dollar.

So why not look into the tomorrow-styled Buick that puts you so far ahead today?

Come in, or phone us this week for a demonstration. Then you can judge for yourself that Buick really is the beautiful buy—by far.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 22 (INS)—I'll say out loud Cleopatra has never been played by a more beautiful woman than Eleanor Parker. Out of all the beauties on the MGM lot, Eleanor has been selected to star in "The Reign of Cleopatra," the story of the fabulous queen of the Nile loved by both Julius Caesar and Mark Antony.

This will be Eleanor's second trip to Egypt. She was there for "Valley of the Kings" with Robert Taylor.

However, the Cleopatra epic won't be made until next year. Karl Tunberg has just started working on the script.

One of the most exciting newcomers to Hollywood is Diane Foster, young Canadian actress. At the age of 14 she directed, produced and acted in a play for the Hudson's Bay Company. She came to Hollywood from London where she was on the stage in "Othello."

I have been hearing a lot about her, so I asked what she's going to do next, and here it is:

She'll have one of the feminine leads in the next Hecht-Lancaster movie called "Gabriel Horn."

Leonard Goldstein's brother, Bob, takes over the production of Leonard's first for United Artists. "Black Tuesday," That's because the picture has to be started by July 6 and Leonard is still busy on "White Feather" for 20th.

It was interesting to me that co-starring with Edward G. Robinson is Peter Graves, new to the screen. I saw Peter in "The Raid," playing second lead to Van Heflin, and he's a very good actor and a good looking boy. This is his first starring role since Leonard put him under contract.

All I can say is Freddie Brisson is a fast mover. I saw him at church with his son, Lance, Sunday morning, and that night he was on his way to New York for a business conference with Floyd Odlum.

Rosalind Russell gets back Saturday from Honolulu and Freddie will fly from New York. A nice surprise for Roz will be that her son, Lance, will be in San Francisco to meet her. Al Vaughn is driving the little boy up north.

Freddie's business with Odlum seems very hush-hush, but I think it concerns the movie "The Girl Rush," Roz, next picture.

Remember Don "Red" Barry, who used to be in the papers every other day? I hadn't heard from him in several years until he telephoned to tell me that he has made a picture in Mississippi called "Jesse James' Wife." He produced and directed it and played a part.

"What I want you to know," he said, "is that Lita Baron, who had the feminine lead, is another Lupe Velez. She's just beautiful and United Artists, which is releasing my picture, believes that this will be the beginning of a screen career for her."

Also in the picture, Don tells me she doesn't even call herself

Painter Plunges To Death But Miracle Saves Partner

NEW YORK, June 22 (AP)—To shocked, was treated at a hospital and sent home. One line of the scaffold, he said, had been hooked to a brick chimney, the other to a cornice on the building roof. The painters were chatting about the weather and recounting their weekend as they worked this morning. Suddenly a section of the chimney gave way, and the line on Shapiro's side fell free. Shapiro shouted a warning and slipped to his death. Zisk dropped swiftly. His body banged against the building once or twice. Windows flashed by. He grabbed several times at a dangling rope. It got away from him. Two stories from the ground Zisk succeeded. His burned hands were witness to the speed of his fall, and the tightness of his grip. "I don't want to die," he had thought as he fell. "I have to live. I've got to save myself."

Postal Dept. Plans To Spot Its Regional Office In Washington

WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—The Post Office Department, in a shift of plans, now has spotted its proposed Virginia-Maryland-West Virginia regional office at Washington instead of Richmond.

That word came last night from Ben H. Guill, executive assistant to Postmaster General Summerfield. Guill said the department's Bureau of Transportation had turned up "so many complications" involved in a Richmond regional office that the shift to Washington was made.

The department is setting up regional offices all over the country as a part of a reorganization aimed at increasing efficiency and cutting operating costs.

Guill said the Washington regional office—which will be separate from department headquarters—will be set up from 6 to 10 months.

Richmond, he said, will become a district office when the tri-state reorganization is effected—along with Baltimore, Charleston, W. Va., and possibly some other cities in the Virginia-Maryland-West Virginia area. District offices are directed by regional offices.

Guill said he expected reorganization would not affect materially the number of postal jobs in this area.

Storm, who is a single man, turned the "gifts" over to police.

Astronomer Thinks Mars May Be Undergoing Evolution

By FRANK CAREY AP Science Reporter

ANN ARBOR, Mich., June 22 (AP)—The revolutionary "speculation" that the planet Mars may still be undergoing evolution towards "a habitable world" was advanced yesterday by a University of Michigan astronomer.

Dr. Dean B. McLaughlin made it at a meeting of the erudite American Astronomical Society whose membership includes some of the world's top professional stargazers.

And he made it after first offering new explanations for certain dark areas on the red planet which hitherto have almost generally been considered to represent vegetation—but vegetation on a planet which has more or less been considered to be a "dying" one.

Saying that these dark areas are explainable as drifts of volcanic ash deposited from violently erupting volcanoes on the Martian surface and influenced by prevailing summer winds—Dr. McLaughlin declared in his prepared report.

"These results challenge the view that Mars is an old, desiccating and dying planet. Perhaps it has not yet lived."

"The violent volcanism may represent a long - delayed development of the planet which now finds itself in a stage corresponding to that through which the earth passed in early pre-Cambrian time some three billion years ago."

"The earth's oceans are thought to have developed through the accumulation of water brought from the interior by volcanism, and perhaps the formation of oceans belongs to the future of Mars."

"Instead of observing the death of a habitable world, perhaps we are witnessing the birth of one."

The scientist said that these quoted paragraphs were "highly speculative and should be considered as such." But he added that his reasoning with respect to the volcanic ash was to be considered as valid reasoning rather than mere speculation.

Here's a digest of his theories in that respect:

1. The dark green markings long noted on Mars — and called "maria" or "seas"—are mostly elongated streaks whose directions closely match those of the strong winds believed to prevail during Martian summers. Thus, the dark areas could well represent deposits of some kind of "sand or dust" drifted by such winds.

2. Certain "bays" at the ends of some of these "seas" could well be "violently active volcanoes" that erupt huge amounts of dust into the Martian atmosphere. And these "bays" are located in such a way that they would tie in with the wind picture.

3. Volcanic ash would be green in color on Mars rather than brown as on the earth because of the dry, oxygen-poor atmosphere of Mars.

4. There is independent astronomical evidence that the dark areas of Mars do not react to infrared light in the same way that the grasses and trees of earth do. So, says McLaughlin, "It is thus extremely doubtful that the maria are areas of vegetation."

How explain changes in color of the dark areas between summer and winter—changes which some investigators have attributed to vegetative growth in the summer-time?

McLaughlin theorizes that in the Martian winter, when the wind pattern is different from that of summer, red dust from desert areas partly drifts over the green volcanic ash, changing the color to brown.

McLaughlin further theorizes that some of the so-called "canals" of Mars are also explainable as volcanic rifts, or "faults" in the planets crust.

Buenos Aires, Argentina, is the largest Spanish speaking city in the world.

Sheriff Of Washington Co. Freed Of False Pretense

HAGERSTOWN, June 22 (P)—Sheriff Edward L. Rowland, who hinted that the charges against him in the buying of food for the Washington County Jail had their foundation in politics, was acquitted today of false pretense.

Rowland admitted he ordered such items as ham, butter, bacon and imported Swiss cheese for the jail, billing the county for bologna. But he said he did so only because, "I didn't want anybody to think I was feeding prisoners butter and bacon."

The jury deliberated about an hour and 15 minutes.

The box score in the trials growing out of an investigation of the sheriff's office now stands at one conviction and two acquittals. Rowland still faces charges of misfeasance and conspiracy and two deputies are charged with false pretense.

Trial of one or the other, Mrs. Mary Stahl or Kenneth Stangle, is scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Testifying in his own behalf, Rowland said the choicer items of food, amounting only to "a couple of pounds of butter and bacon a week," were for himself, his deputies, state police, official visitors and others at the jail.

And while ham was served to the officers and visitors, he added, the hock ends were always saved to make bean soup for the prisoners.

Rowland implied the charges against him were brought in retaliation for his refusal to fire two deputies, Leister Isanogle and Michael Farrie.

"They (the commissioners) wanted me to fire Ike (Isanogle) and Mike (Farrie)," he testified, "because they (the deputies) were working politically against them (the commissioners)."

The defense contended Rowland was within his rights, both legally and traditionally, in ordering food for himself and his deputies and visitors.

Drought Tightens Baltimore Grip

BALTIMORE, June 22 (P)—Further restrictions on the use of water in the Baltimore area were imposed today as the worst drought in Weather Bureau history tightened its grip on the city and its suburbs.

Bureau records, dating back to 1871, show that the period from May 21 to June 20 was the driest in the recorded history of the Baltimore area.

The stricken zone covers most of the area east and south of South Mountain in the Blue Ridge chain, although local showers have relieved the situation in scattered parts of that area. Truck crops have been damaged and the tomato crop is in danger.

Forecasters eyed two weather systems moving in the general direction of the drought area for signs of relief. A storm center now located off the Carolina Coast is moving northeastward, and a mass of cool air is moving Southeastward from the Great Lakes area.

Weather experts hold out more hope for the Great Lakes cool air mass. It should arrive in the Maryland area Wednesday and produce some scattered thunderstorm or shower activity along its leading edge, they said.

The Carolina storm is expected to pass too far to the east as it moves northward to do much good.

Md. Farm Receipts Off

WASHINGTON, June 22 (P)—The Department of Agriculture said cash receipts for Maryland farmers dropped more than 6 per cent in the first four months of 1954, compared with the same period of 1953. The drop for the nation as a whole was about 4 per cent.

Nearly one-half of all the greenhouse tomatoes produced in the United States come from Ohio.

Presbyterians Told Of Church Merger Plans

FREDERICK, June 22 (P)—Presbyterians of the Maryland-Delaware-Virginia area heard a detailed report today on the mechanics by which the three major branches of their faith hope to unite about two years from now.

Dr. Glenn Warner Moore, secretary of the general council of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., gave the explanation to delegates attending the 99th annual meeting of its Baltimore Synod.

About 300 delegates were on hand today for the opening business session of the meeting, being held at Hood College. Another 200 are expected before adjournment Friday. They represent 157 churches of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. in Delaware, Maryland, the District of Columbia, and northern Virginia.

Dr. Moore pointed out union of the three major Presbyterian branches would produce a denomination with about 3½ million members if it can be consummated in 1956.

The three branches are the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., familiarly known as the northern church; the Presbyterian church in the United States, familiarly known as the southern church, and the United Presbyterian Church.

The general assemblies of all three bodies voted separately and by large majorities in May and June to unite, Dr. Moore reported. They have been debating and negotiating on it for several years.

The decision now is in the hands of the local presbyteries into which all three branches of the church are organized.

Retired Railroader's $10,000 Disappears

BALTIMORE, June 22 (P)—Dominic Nesci was $10,000 poorer today, but no wiser about where his money went.

The 68-year-old retired railroader decided several months ago to hide his life savings. He said he put $1,000 in each of 10 small cans, put the cans in a metal box and the box under the metal shower stall in his bathroom.

Yesterday, he told police, he found the empty box in a clothes hamper.

NAACP Attacks Segregation At Maryland Pools, Beaches

BALTIMORE, June 22 (P)—The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People argued in Federal Court here today that segregation rules at local and state recreation facilities inflict a badge of inequality on Negro citizens.

But an assistant state's attorney general suggested that lifting the race bans at city swimming pools, for example, might have ill effects on plans to end segregation in Baltimore's public schools next fall.

W. Giles Parker said, "Let's assume the pools are opened up now and there should be—and God forbid there ever would be—one—a riot. I feel it would have a detrimental effect on the school problem."

The arguments were set forth at a three hour hearing before Judge Roszel C. Thomsen on the NAACP's motion that the bans be lifted. They referred specifically to the restrictions against Negroes using the municipal park at Fort Smallwood, city operated swimming pools and the Sandy Point State Park.

Attorney Jack Greenberg of New York, representing the NAACP, said the psychological damage to Negroes caused by segregation violates the United States Constitution.

Re-Enlistment Bonus May Help Services

There is much to be said for the proposals initiated by the Defense Department which would make it possible for the services to hold a financial plum out to those who are debating whether to re-enlist for another hitch.

Re-enlistments are at the worrisome low of 10 per cent, the Defense Department has informed the Senate Armed Services Committee. This is approximately one-third the normal rate of the past.

What the Pentagon proposes is to nearly double the current re-enlistment bonus, and place it on a sliding scale so that the most attractive bonus is offered to those who are up for their first re-enlistment. It is among this group that the attrition is heaviest. Recruitment and training of new enlisted men is so expensive that the estimated $68,000,000 which the increased bonus payments would entail would be infinitely less than the cost of training new men.

Air Secretary Talbott, whose problem is perhaps the most acute, pointed up the entire service problem when he told the senators that the Air Force would find it necessary to train 200,000 replacements, at a cost of from $2,000,000,000 to $3,000,000,000, to make up for the current attrition. The complaint isn't confined to the broad enlisted stratum either.

Resignations of West Point and Annapolis commissions are at a peak, and the services are having a great deal of trouble hold on to the young reserve officers who went to college with whole or partial government help, and who have served their contracted hitch. Service life doesn't have the attractions it once had.

Plainly the government has been militarily penny-wise with such items as the re-enlistment bonuses in question.

Radioactivity In Medicine

John Jay Hopkins, president of General Dynamics Corporation, whose company manufactures submarines, recently made this startling statement:

"So great is the expansion of uses of radioactivity in the field of medicine, it is estimated that already the lives of more people have been saved by the atom than were lost in the Hiroshima and Nagasaki explosions!"

It is an important statement about a subject of which most of us are ignorant. I know that when my dog, Brownie, was dying of cancer, I discussed some of the new drugs with authorities and discovered a few that had been tried on humans with some measure of success, but they had not been tried on dogs. The experts in this field are very conservative because they still know so little about what they have discovered.

One story I came across in this investigation is particularly interesting. It was found in a part of England that the cattle reached a certain age, became ill and died. A vast experiment was undertaken to discover the cause. Half the cattle were taken elsewhere and they thrived, but the cattle that remained in their home meadows sickened. Again they were divided into two lots and those who were removed got well and flourished. After thorough study it was found to be a soil and plant problem; that in the home meadows there was a total lack of cobalt in the soil.

When it comes to such a subject as soil chemistry, I fear that my knowledge is so weak that I may not even repeat correctly what I hear, but it seems to be my recollection that the entire plant life of these meadows was changed and thereafter the cattle in the home meadows flourished. Maybe some day the scientists may discover that the chemical imbalance in our foods may be responsible for some of these troubles.

Hopkins reports:

"Through the use of radioactive phosphorus—which checks the over-production of red blood cells in the bone marrow—the lives of sufferers from leukemia have been prolonged. One of our most famous ethical laboratories is offering radioactive iodine in capsule form for the treatment of thyroid disorders without the need of hospitalization or elaborate controls."

I do not know quite how far this has gone and those who do know are extremely conservative in their statements. But an entire new field is being opened up as a result of the use of rare earths and of the isotopes of atomic fission which may change the entire field of medical treatment, particularly as regards the various forms of cancer.

If three problems of our health can be solved, enormous numbers of lives can be saved. These are the various heart ailments, the cancers, and the disturbances of the pancreas. Most of these ailments catch us unawares and lay 'us low without much of a fighting chance, although so much is being done by the physician and the chemist as to give us great hope for the future.

The two major illnesses of the pancreas are diabetes, in which insulin is discharged too niggardly, and hyperinsulinism in which the hormone is discharged too generously. Of the two, hyperinsulinism is the more difficult to handle and while it does not produce shocks and comas, it does leave the sufferer without energy and often in a state of extreme nervousness. It may be assumed correctly that most alcoholics suffer from hyperinsulinism which literally drives them to drink. Insulin can be administered for diabetes but not for hyperinsulinism which is detected by glucose tolerance tests. It is a tough illness to have.

John Jay Hopkins gives some evidence of the movement of isotopes in the curative field when he notes:

"... while the largest single employer of isotopic materials is industry, the second largest application is in the field of medicine. Some perspective on our progress in the last few years may be gained from the figures on shipment of radioactive isotopes. In 1946 there were a total of 246 shipments, in 1953 there were 10,676. Other nations, particularly Canada, are also large producers."

It may be that the progress made in these fields will not only add years to our lives but will free us from some of the most unpleasant effects of living too long, of pains and aches and fears which remove from old age the joy of living.

Witness Terms Some Scientists' Attitudes Maddening

By David Lawrence

mind their competence and independence of decision in fields in which they have no competence.

"Q. You were undertaking at the time you interviewed Dr. Oppenheimer to investigate what you believed to be a very serious attempt at espionage, is that right?"

"A. Yes."

"Q. And Dr. Oppenheimer's refusal to give you the information that you asked for was frustrating to you?"

"A. Oh, certainly."

"Q. You felt that it seriously impeded your investigation, didn't you?"

"A. Certainly. But he wasn't the first one that impeded my investigation, nor the last."

Mr. Lansdale went on to say that he felt that, to the extent of his knowledge, Dr. Oppenheimer is loyal but added that, on the matter of "security clearance," had he been confined to the bare record he would not have granted it. He said:

"In other words, if Dr. Oppenheimer had not been as important as he was, I would certainly have stopped with the record and used my every endeavor to persuade the General (Groves) that Dr. Oppenheimer ought to be dispensed with."

Difficult Cited

This is probably as good an example as any of the difficulty that the security officers had with some of the scientists at the laboratory where during the last war the atomic bomb was being developed.

The special board which recently heard the testimony on Dr. Oppenheimer and which was headed by Gordon Gray, president of the University of North Carolina and formerly Secretary of the Army in the last administration, had this comment to make on scientists with particular reference to some who testified in behalf of Dr. Oppenheimer. The special board in its final report declared:

"... The board has been impressed, and in many ways heartened by the manner in which many scientists have sprung to the defense of one whom many felt was under unfair attack. This is important and encouraging when one is concerned with the vitality of our society. However, the board feels constrained to express its concern that in this solidarity there have been attitudes so uncompromising in support of science in general, and Dr. Oppenheimer in particular, that some witnesses have, in our judgment, allowed their convictions to supersede what might reasonably have been their recollections."

What undoubtedly is referred to here is a conspicuous instance in which a scientist flatly contradicted the testimony of two other witnesses, but the board chose not to specify publicly which ones were meant. While scientists as a body cannot be condemned, some of their number didn't show up so well in the hearings as believing in wholehearted cooperation with their government except as they themselves interpreted the obligation.

Physician's Supervision Needed In Treating Tapeworm

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

the worm back down the stomach. The rest of the worm will come out with the solid wastes."

This sounds like a good idea but the worm is given too much credit for knowing that milk is being served at the other end of the line. In addition, it would have to pass through the stomach, which is loaded with hydrochloric acid, a substance the worm could not survive. On the other hand, the method stresses an important de-worming principle: get the head. Unless this part is retrieved, the worm will continue to grow even though it loses 15 feet of the body.

Intestinal worms are as old as mankind. Our ancestors took them as a matter of course but always were puzzled about where they came from. The critters were never seen to enter and as a result, they were thought to originate within the intestinal tract. Little did the old timers realize that infestation occurred by swallowing in food the eggs and larvae that hatched into mature worms on reaching the intestine.

Nowadays, tapeworm infestation is found only where insanitary conditions prevail and where people eat inadequately cooked foods. Beef tapeworm is a typical offender; it is long and flat with a small head, called the "mother" and a series of "daughter" segments united in ribbon like fashion. Each segment contains eggs, and as the worm grows, these parts fall off and are passed in the stool. Cattle pick up the eggs when grazing in moist pasture land contaminated with human sewage. The eggs hatch and are deposited as larvae in the muscles. When the animals are slaughtered larvae remain in the meat and are eaten in uncookblue in the face, then—bingo!—busted three ribs, and couldn't pitch again for Brooklyn for six weeks.

Threat Against Son Used In Effort To Force Hunt Out Of Senate Race

By Drew Pearson

some time ago and might be alive today.

Was A Modest Man

I had first met Hunt when he was governor of Wyoming and climbed aboard the Friendship Train eight years ago as it reached the western end of his state. He rode with us until we arrived in Cheyenne. A quiet, unassuming person, Hunt had come to Wyoming first as a baseball player, then settled down to practice dentistry in Lander, up near the Shoshone Indian reservation.

In the Senate, he could always be found voting on the side of the underdog, and though he was not as vocal as Senator Tobey, he did a fine, conscientious job as a member of the Kefauver Committee which investigated crime.

The world began to come to an end for Senator Hunt when, last year, his son was arrested in Lafayette Park on a morals charge. Since it was a first offense, he was charged with a misdemeanor, and the Senator was asked by the Washington police to work with his son to straighten him out.

The charge lay on the police record and for the time being was not prosecuted.

Then suddenly, Senator Welker telephoned a mutual friend of Hunt's in Wyoming, stating that if Hunt would withdraw from the Senate race, his son would not be prosecuted.

Hunt, a Democrat, was extremely popular in Wyoming and sure of re-election. His term was to expire this year, and if he withdrew, a Republican was reasonably sure of election, thus giving the Republicans a better chance to control the Senate.

The Welker message was relayed to Hunt through his close friends Tracy McCracken, Democratic national committeeman from Wyoming and Joe O'Mahoney, ex-Senator from Wyoming.

Hunt told this column last December that when he got the message he and Mrs. Hunt debated it for a week, then decided that no matter how much he wanted to protect his son, he would not be blackmailed out of public office. So he sent word that he would not withdraw.

Terrible Ordeal

One day later, the Washington Times-Herald, then owned by Col. Robert McCormick, featured the story of his son's morals charge on page one, and immediately thereafter Inspector Roy Blick, head of the D.C. Vice Squad, was called to Capitol Hill.

Senator Hunt told this column that Blick later reported to him that Welker and Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the powerful Senate Appropriations Committee, had handed him an envelope and told him to read the contents.

Blick did so and found the envelope contained his resignation. He asked what it meant. The senators told him to sign it.

They went on to explain that what was what happened when a police officer failed to prosecute, as in the Hunt boy's case.

Blick explained that where a youngster who was studying for the ministry, the usual police practice was to get in touch with his church and his parents and get him straightened out without prosecution, especially if he was a first offender.

But Senator Welker said that if there was no prosecution he might feel constrained to make a speech on the Senate floor.

Shortly thereafter, young Hunt was brought to trial. Orders were given in the U. S. Attorney's office to push the prosecution. Senator Hunt sat in court throughout the trial. He looked as if he was almost dying before men's eyes.

The policeman who arrested Young Hunt had made no arrests that day, and some attorneys have charged plainclothesmen with unfairly trying to increase the number of their arrests. One attorney familiar with D. C. criminal procedure who watched the proceedings told me that the boy should have been acquitted on the ground that the plainclothesman whom young Hunt was charged with soliciting, actually had done the soliciting himself. But the prosecution was vigorous and the verdict went against the Hunt boy.

Mrs. Hunt, the Senator said later, hardly survived the trial. She didn't eat for a week.

"If the opposition brings this up in the Senate race," he told this column, "I shall withdraw."

The above conversation took place in late December. The Senator at that time said he could not bear to face his colleagues in the Senate. He doubted if he would even appear on the Senate floor. His hair had turned almost white. His face was pale. We urged him not to avoid people, told him that public sympathy was with him. Eventually he got around home, seemed to be more his old self.

Then two weeks ago he went to the hospital for a physical check and announced that he would not run again. It was no secret that he had been having kidney trouble for some time. But I am sure that on top of this, Lester Hunt, a much more sensitive soul than his colleagues realized, just could not bear the thought of having his son's misfortunes become the subject of whispers in his re-election campaign.

Those must have been some of the worries that troubled Senator Hunt as he left his home early the other morning, a .22 rifle half hidden under his coat.

USSR & Monroe Doctrine

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK (INS)—Russia says that a group of American republics, banded together in the organization of American States, cannot sit down and decide what to do about a war that is going on in one of the member states, Guatemala. Russia said so with its 60th veto in the U.N. Security Council.

This keeps the matter in the U.N., where the Soviet Union will continue to be able to use whatever happens in Guatemala as a reason to lambast the U. S. If it had gone to the OAS, the Reds would have been comparatively mute, since they hold no membership in that organization.

Just four years ago this week the same Security Council, able to act because Russia was absenting itself from hearings, agreed that North Korea was the aggressor in the Korean fracas. Secretary General Trygve Lie urged U. N. members to send aid to South Korea and the American forces sent in there at the start.

There is no great parallel in the Korean and Guatemalan situations. But the Russian charge is that we are inconsistent. We readily went to South Korea's assistance when it was invaded, establishing ourselves as the shining knights of freedom, but hesitate to go to the aid of the established Government of Guatemala.

The Guatemalan Ambassador to U. N., deliberately or coincidentally playing into Russia's hands, has tacitly called on the U. S., as a member of the U. N., to combat a democratic force that is attempting to capture pro-Communist Guatemala—a force which, if it succeeds, will be much more friendly to the United States than is the present Guatemalan administration. We're in quite a pocket on this one.

One wonders what President Monroe would have said after defining his doctrine, and trouble broke out in Latin America, if the czar had tried to halt the efforts of the American republics to settle discord in their midst.

The tragedy of Guatemala is that we let the Communists come into our back yard and institute desperately needed reforms in that country while we spent millions on such despots as Tito.

There is bound to be uneasiness in Washington next weekend when Sir Winston and Anthony Eden sit down to talk with President Eisenhower about Southeast Asia and Anglo-American relations, which have resembled relations among in-laws of late.

The uneasiness will not spring so much from what the old gentleman and Eden have to say as from what they and we don't know about what Clement Attlee and Nya Bevan are saying more or less simultaneously to Mao Tse-tung in Peiping. These Laborites led the cheering in Commons when Churchill announced that Mao was at last recognizing Great Britain diplomatically by sending a charge d'affaires to London to set up a full-blown Embassy. Attlee and Bevan could be political leaders of Britain tomorrow.

The people who make Ivory Soap, a product that was 75 years old Sunday, have come up with the disturbing revelation that seven cakes of the stuff have sunk in the past three quarters of a century. There goes my last illusion in life. Sue got its name in church. Harley Proctor, a son of one of the founders, was attending Sunday services when he was attracted to a reading from the 45th psalm—"All thy garments smell of myrrh and aloes, and cassia, out of the ivory palaces whereby they have made thee glad."

Nothing in Scriptures about its floating, however.

Ed Furgol's victory in the National Open, over one of the greatest golf fields ever assembled, should be an inspiration to every physically handicapped person in the land. Twenty-five years ago Ed fell off parallel bars in a Utica, N. Y. playground, landed on packed cinders and smashed the elbow of his left arm. After half a dozen operations his parents were told to let the 12-year-old boy play golf, to keep the withering arm from becoming wholly incapacitated.

Surplus Foods Distribution Is Underway

Barton Eligibles On Today's List

The distribution of surplus foods to unemployed and needy families in Allegany County began yesterday at Westernport.

The Red Cross, Salvation Army, Associated Charities and Allegany County Welfare Board has been registering and certifying those eligible.

As the distribution started yesterday, it was learned that the Allegany County Welfare Board had not returned some 27 or 28 eligibility forms to those eligible in Westernport, and these people did not get their commodities.

J. Walker Chapman, who has charge of the distribution for the County Commissioners, says this hitch has been straightened out and these people will be given their commodities if they can go for them today at Barton.

Today is the second day of the scheduled distribution. Eligibles of Barton and Moscow, may receive their foodstuffs at the Firemen's Hall at 9 o'clock this morning.

Tomorrow the distribution will be made at the Firemen's Hall in Lonaconing for the area from Harpersville through Pekin, including Lonaconing.

On Friday, distribution headquarters will be at the Midland Fire Hall for Gilmore and Midland, and Saturday the distribution will be made at Frostburg Fire Hall.

Five commodities, canned beef and gravy, butter, dried milk, shortening and cheese, are being distributed.

German Native Becomes Citizen

PARSONS — Mrs. Everett Price, the former Elfride Elizabeth Niehmann of Niederdaufenen, Germany, became a citizen of the United States when she was granted her citizenship papers in the regular June term of the Circuit Court of Tucker County before Judge Ernest A. See.

The Department of Justice, Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, recommended the petition be granted.

Mrs. Price came to Parsons, August 12, 1947 and has lived here since that time and is now engaged in the grocery business with her husband.

She was educated in the schools of Germany and prior to coming to Parsons she was employed in the Deutsche Bank in Kassel, Germany as a clerk.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Niehmann. Her mother is expected to arrive in Parsons in July to spend the summer months with Mr. and Mrs. Price.

This is the first citizenship granted in this county since June 1953.

Cumberland's 30th Annual Race Meeting Opens Today

Sixth Event Heads Ladies' Day Program

Post Time For First Race 2 P. M.; Colwill Secretary 5th Season

Cumberland's thirtieth annual race meeting gets under way today at the Fairgo half mile oval at 2 p. m., E. D. T.

R. C. Williams' Say heads the Ladies' Day, feature event on the opening card. The three-year-old colt won a sprint at Bowie in April but, to enter the about five furlongs dash, Say will have to be drawn from the also eligible list in the event of scratches.

Sharing top weight and also on the "eligible" list are R. Aideldinger's Apricot, two-times winner in Ohio, and Leo Eichler's Clearbrook, who was victorious in her last three starts at Ascot Park.

Speed in the Ladies Day is represented by J. B. Friendland's Be Flying, a son of Chicago Drive, and L. Pell's Spherical. Both horses are quick from the gate and probably will wage a duel from the early lead. Be Flying has shown a tendency to stop but may not falter this afternoon.

Weatherman Favorite Here

Weatherman, owned by A. Clatterbuck, is a local favorite and will receive support at the mutuels. A winner over the local strip in past years, the 7-year-old gelding generally requires most distance than the five furlongs of the Ladies Day to register his best ability.

Completing the field are S. Ross' Mr. Pressure, W. Swisher's Car Edgar H. Mrs. C. V. Pugh's Hell's Flame, W. Basaraba's Sum Bike, J. L. Twigg's Lanna Lee and P. Barber's Royal Liege.

5th Year For Colwill
J. Fred Colwill, who is serving his fifth consecutive year as racing secretary for the Cumberland Fair Association, reported yesterday that approximately 400 horses will be on the grounds for the 10-day meeting which will be concluded on Saturday, July 3.

Harry Palmer, of New York, is official starter for the second straight year, and Robert Littleton, native of Hagerstown, serves as director of wagering for the first time.

Among the better known saddle-riders here for the meeting are Mike Sorrentino, Ray Arduini, Tommy Fortune, Robert Runyon, Jimmy Baird, Willie Clark, Tony Russo, Patsy Grant, Bobby Shirey, Eugene Doshier, Tommy Kane, Donald Teague and Stanley Austin.

MR. FROSTBURG IS RARIN' TO GO — Pictured above is Mr. Frostburg, 7-year-old gelding, owned by Enoch P. Price, of Frostburg, with Luke French, groom. Mr. Frostburg came to Fairgo from Waterford Park, W. Va., where he started twice and took show money both times. Last year he won at Fairgo on the third day of the meeting. Other Price horses here for the 10-day session which gets under way today are Hunters Glory, Stanley and Ereeje. Ereeje paid $48 to place and $22 to win in races at Charles Town last spring. Patsy Grant, Tony Russo or Jimmy Edwards will ride the Price horses at Fairgo. Melissa W., another Price star, will arrive here Saturday from Waterford, according to Enoch Price, Jr., trainer.

Fairgo Briefs

BY C. V. BURNS

Bob Littleton is the 11th pari-mutuel manager here since win and place payoffs were introduced at the local racing plant in 1925.

Mortimer Mahony was No. 1. Others that followed were Dave Heisman, Jimmy Considine, Walter McConnell, Donald Hay, Erie Walden, Jimmy Langford, Eddie O'Hara, Riggs Mahony and Bill Fisher.

Littleton first worked here under Mahony 22 years ago.

Bob recalls that the mutuel department in those days occupied only a small space at the end of the grandstand and jockeys' quarters were upstairs.

Being associated with the pari-mutuel end of racing for so many years, Littleton stresses a very important point in connection with betting on the races.

Bob says that many persons are under the false impression that racing takes too much money out of a community and hurts business.

"Do you know that people glance at the mutuel handle and say: 'Look at all the money the races are taking out of town,' Littleton declared.

"And do you know that 85 per cent of the money handled is returned to the betting public. I have the figures to prove it.

"There are approximately 125 men in the mutuel department alone, and most of them are from out-of-town points. During the race meeting they live here, they eat here and they spend their money here. Is that taking money out of the town or leaving it here?

"When you figure it out, a race meeting is good for a community like Cumberland."

Calvin Bowling points out that among the owners and trainers who will be racing for the first time here are:

Iva Mae Parrish, of Altoona, Fla., who saddled 17 winners last year that earned $12,765.

Earl Sharrad, of Imbary City, Mich., with 10 winners and $10,636.

Will Basaraba, of Toronto, Canada, 12 winners and $9,395. His ace is Freddie K., with a 2-3-10 record on the West Virginia and Ohio circuit last year.

A. E. Gardner, Garrettsville, Ohio; A. A. Dunbar, Middleburg, Va.; Leo Eichler, Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Thomas A. Caulk, Aldie, Va., who has a string of eight well-bred young horses here.

Harry Palmer, official starter at Fairgo, came here from Aqueduct track in New York with a crew of four experienced aides. They are George Knobbe, Gene Richards, Bill Slavin and Johnny Burns.

The last named returned recently from Colombia, South America, where he introduced the United starting gate.

Racing Secretary J. Fred Colwill calls attention to the fact that the purse distribution which appears in the condition book for the week of June 23-July 3 is incorrect.

Purses of $1,000 are offered for all races and the national split of 65, 20, 10 and 5 per cent for first, second, third and fourth places is $650, $200, $100 and $50.

The condition book shows $700 for first and $150 for second.

Riders of winning mounts at Fairgo receive $35 while riders of all other mounts in the race earn $15 each.

Here are some of the records established at the local half miler in past years:

Total mutuel handle for 10 days—$3,078,127 in 1946.

Top mutuel handle for single day—$361,105 in 1946.

Highest payoff on a $2 win ticket—Ladys Favor $161.80 in 1937.

* Record Daily Double payoff Grape Vine (8) and Vera M (3) returned $1,463.80 in 1942.

Most Horses to run here—436 in 1950.

Most winners ridden by Jockey—Carson Kirk, 22, in 1943.

Lowest percentage of favorites winning—48 per cent in 1947.

Lowest percentage of favorite winning—29 per cent in 1951.

Answer to query: Sammy Palumbo last rode at Fairgo in 1951. He had only four mounts and piloted one to show money.

Do you know that Cumberland was the first minor track in Maryland to pay a consolation daily double? It was on July 18, 1951 when Gala Blenheim was scratched. Gilded Fox and Gala Blenheim figured in the payoff.

Songed isn't at Fairgo. Neither is Becky's Shirt.

The former took second money in a race at Delaware Park yesterday while Becky's Shirt ran out at the same track.

Fight Off, Too Hot

WORCESTER, Mass., June 22 (AP)—A boxing show headlined by a lightweight match between George Araujo of Providence, R. I., and Braxton Reed of New York, was called off tonight when the temperature in the ring was estimated at more than 100 degrees with the lights turned on.

The main event was not rescheduled for another date because Araujo now has been signed for an outdoor date with Boston's Tony DeMarco at Fenway Park July 12.

Sima and Dixon Of Philadelphia Beat Cleveland

Athletics Defeat Early Wynn, 4 To 1

CLEVELAND, June 22 (AP)—Southpaw Al Sima and Sonny Dixon pitched the Philadelphia Athletics to the seventh victory of their last nine games tonight—a four-hit 4-1 defeat of Cleveland's first-place Indians. The A's, who had beaten the Tribe only once in eight previous meetings, pounded Early Wynn to his fifth loss against eight victories.

Sima, a 31-year-old New Jersey southpaw, and Dixon, a big right-hander, are the A's two newest pitchers—recently acquired in a three-corner deal involving Washington and Chicago. It was Sima's first victory.

The Tribe got its lone unearned run off Sima in the first inning without a hit. Dixon came in after a walk and single in the eighth, hit Al Rosen with a pitched ball to fill the bases, then got Dave Philley to hit into a force play for the third out. Dixon put the Indians down 1-2-3 in the last round.

Americans Win At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, England, June 22 (P) — Maureen Connolly and the other American girls in the Du Pont-Brough-Hart-Connolly tennis dynasty breezed through opening matches at Wimbledon today in less time than it takes to get a manicure.

Only third-seeded Shirley Fry of Akron, Ohio, had any difficulty as the favored Americans steam-rolled one round, and in some cases, two rounds, ahead.

Miss Fry, runnerup in 1951, had 6-0 in a second round match.

Bobby Shantz May Be Through For Season

BALTIMORE, Md., June 22 (INS)—Noted Surgeon Dr. George T. Bennett of Johns Hopkins examined the Philadelphia Athletics' lame-armed pitching ace Bobby Shantz today and said that Shantz probably will not be able to pitch again this season.

Dr. Bennett diagnosed Shantz's injury as a pulled tendon behind his left shoulder. He said no surgery was indicated but told the pitcher to rest for at least three weeks.

Only 1,092 fans paid to see the Athletics play the Orioles at Connie Mack Stadium on June 4.

Radio And Television

All-Around Girl

Frankly, I think television has done poorly by the nursing profession and a damned shame, too, considering all that the nurses did for radio. Radio, in fact, got through the day without the nurses. Most any hour, you could tune in and hear a nurse say that "Mary Noble, Backstage Wife" was still unconscious but that the doctors were doing all that could be expected of them about her broken back.

Or you could tune in Nora Drake and find out what doctor she was in love with at the moment. Or switch over to "Road of Life" and see whether Dr. Jim Brent, who had accidentally swallowed some virulent typhus germs, was still breathing. The nurses were all over the spectrum, ministering to the tubercular cases and falling in love with the amnesia victims.

On radio, in the old days you could tune in at 10 in the morning and go right through to six at night without ever getting out of the hospital. Not on television, though. On television sometimes you can go for hours at a time without catching a glimpse of a stethoscope.

For all you old addicts, who have been perishing for the smell of blood, there's "Janet Dean, Registered Nurse" which arrived with some impressive endorsement:

from the National League of Nursing and the American Nurses Association. The NLN, as a matter of fact, said that it hoped "Janet Dean" would be an important "asset in increasing the public's understanding of modern nursing."

Well, I hope it does, too, but, brother, if this is modern nursing, the profession has got a lot harder than it used to be. Ella Raines, who plays Janet, is quite a girl. She not only has to put the thermometers in their mouths, but also analyze the husbands and run down the clues.

On her last case, Janet was having the brow of a man who had fallen or jumped off the scaffolding of a building, plummeting—oh, no more than 100 feet or so. After tucking him in comfortably, she had to reassure the guy's distraught wife. "They do wonderful things with brain surgery now."

Then she shoed away the insurance adjuster who had a lot of nasty questions to ask about the husband's proclivities toward suicide. And finally, after the insurance people decided that it was a suicide attempt and not an accident—which meant that the poor wife wouldn't get any money—Janet tore off her nurse's uniform, donned civvies and went prowling around the saloons in order to get to the bottom of this thing. After hours, on her own time.

She broke the case, too. Got a man to confess he had borne false witness, simply by looking him square in the eye until he broke down. (Modern nurses have to be part mesmerists along with everything else). No, she didn't perform the brain surgery, largely, I expect, because the American Medical Association takes a dim view of nurses assuming their prerogatives, but she sure did everything else.

I recall another case when Miss Dean (or Miss Raines, as I keep thinking of her) was playing angel of mercy to a blind old lady. The blind old lady's son, who had an extravagant wife, was trying to kill his mother in various interesting ways—as you can see these are all cases that the average registered nurse would run into any day of the week—but Miss Dean foiled him by switching the poisoned coffee cups.

And again she levels her level gaze at him and he breaks up, sniveling that he didn't really mean to kill the old darling for her dough. "All right, run away," says Miss Dean, levelly. "You'll never get away from the person you're afraid of most—yourself." That straightens him around.

Miss Raines, in undertaking this series, declared that she hoped it would demonstrate that the nursing profession was "interesting, vital, perhaps even attractive." Well, it's all that, all right. It just isn't very medical.

GLEN BURNIE, Md., June 22 (AP)—It was a sample house and thieves helped themselves to just about everything in sight.

Robert Miller, salesman for a construction firm, told police the burglars walked off with three lamps, two radios, bedspreads, pillows and draperies, a rug and a runner.

BOTH STYLES ON A DEAL

THERE are two extremely contrasting styles of play for a suit contract. First is that whereby trumps of the defenders are removed and then side tricks scored, perhaps in one long suit, perhaps in several suits. The other is the cross-ruff, in which tricks are taken by single trumps ruffing other suits. The first presents a lot of tricks containing two trumps each, the second features one trump to a trick. Once in a blue moon, you find both styles used on the same deal.

2. 1 ♠ Pass Pass 1 ♠

This deal, which decided a team match, produced a spade game for East-West at Table 1, by the simple expedient of ruffing the diamond A lead, taking out the heart Q finesse, dropping the K, scoring the J, winning the club Q finesse and raking in the club A for the tenth trick, the last three being given up.

If, during his play at 3-No Trumps, South makes a lead of the spade 8, what card should West play?

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors who were so sympathetic and helpful during the illness and following the death of our beloved father, James H. Staup, of Nikes. We are especially grateful for the services rendered by Rev. C. F. Hunt and the members of the Assembly of God Church and to those who sent floral tributes and others who contributed to the use of their cars for the funeral and to all who in any manner assisted us.
The family

In Memoriam

In memory of Wilford Perando, killed in the mines on Father's Birthday, June 23, 1949.
Fly, old and lonely too,
Broken hearted, sick with sorrow,
No one will never know how we miss
You more and more.
Not my will, but Thy will be done,
Missed by MOTHER, FATHER,
SISTER and BROTHER.

In loving memory of our dear beloved son and brother, John H. Whetstone, who passed away June 23, 1950.
No one knows the silent heartaches,
Only those who have lost can tell
Of the grief that's borne in silence,
For the one we loved so well.
Dad, Mother & Brothers

The object of this suit is to procure a

Dr. Teller, Leading Architect Of H-Bomb,
"Entered Work With Fear In His Heart"

By RELMAN MORIN
WASHINGTON, June 22 (AP)—He entered this work with fear in his heart . . .

On a spring afternoon in Washington, two men sat talking, long and soberly, until the shadows lengthened and the room grew dark. One was the president of George Washington University, Dr.
Cloyd Marvin, the other, a dark, intense man named Dr. Edward Teller, a nuclear physicist.

The scientist posed a series of questions:
"Suppose you could develop a force capable of destroying all life on earth is it right even to take any steps in that direction?"

Marvin says he replied that such a force would be safe in the hands of the United States, that this country must remain ahead in any such developments, and "hope to make the necessary political adjustments."

Teller agreed.
"But nevertheless," Marvin said,
"he entered this work with fear in his heart and terror in his mind.
He had a terrific moral feeling about it."

This was in the spring of 1950.
Teller's self-searching was not entirely in the realm of fantasy.
Six months before, scientists had detected evidence of an atomic explosion in the silent fastnesses of Soviet Russia. With these readings, it was evident that America's supposed monopoly in atomic weapons was soon to end.

What to do now?
Hastily, scientists, soldiers and all those responsible for defense and foreign policy met to determine the next step, in the light of the lurid flash from the east.

There were many suggestions.
"A Maginot in the skies,"
based on massive air defense . . .
A vastly enlarged arsenal of A-weapons . . . and, against some opposition, the hydrogen bomb.

On Jan. 31, 1950, President Truman resolved these discussions with a decision. He ordered construction of the H-bomb.

Nobody knew then whether the bomb was physically feasible, whether natural laws would permit it. (One scientist said that when he started working, he hoped to find these forces beyond the range of human ingenuity.)

A few men dimly perceived the awful capabilities—known forces of destruction, multiplied by an unknown "X," and brought to the 1000th or 10,000th power. It bog-gled the imagination and tortured the conscience.

Three years later, for all practical purposes, the H-bomb was a reality.

Edward Teller is considered the chief architect. With what has been described as a "brilliant inspiration," he succeeded in crossing the barrier into a fantastic new area of energy.

Still, he might have remained relatively unknown to the non-scientific world, had it not been for developments that touched Dr. J.
Robert Oppenheimer, "father of the atomic bomb."

Last December, Oppenheimer was suspended as an adviser for the Atomic Energy Commission.
Oppenheimer asked for a hearing. After more than three weeks of testimony, a special personnel security board upheld the suspension in a split, 2-1, finding. He has appealed to the AEC.

Forester Ends Aerial Survey For Oak Wilt

Several Areas Spotted In Flight

A 23-hour aerial survey of four Western Maryland counties, conducted to determine the possible location of oak wilt, has been completed by William H. Johnson, district forester, and W. L. Zebley, pilot from the Martinsburg, W. Va., area.

An intensive study of Allegany and Washington counties, Johnson said, resulted in the location of a number of infected areas. However, it is not positive whether or not oak wilt is the cause of the destruction of the trees.

Recent lightning storms have caused the death of a large number of trees, Johnson pointed out, while other causes may have been responsible.

Four new areas have been found in Allegany County: two on the Billmeyer game refuge on the west side of Town Hill; one at the south end of Dan's Mountain, at Wildcat Hollow and a fourth on the west slope of Siding Hill.

Suspicion of oak wilt was located in eight new areas of Washington County. Six of the areas were found on Siding; one on Boyd Mountain near Clear Spring and one on Fairview Mountain.

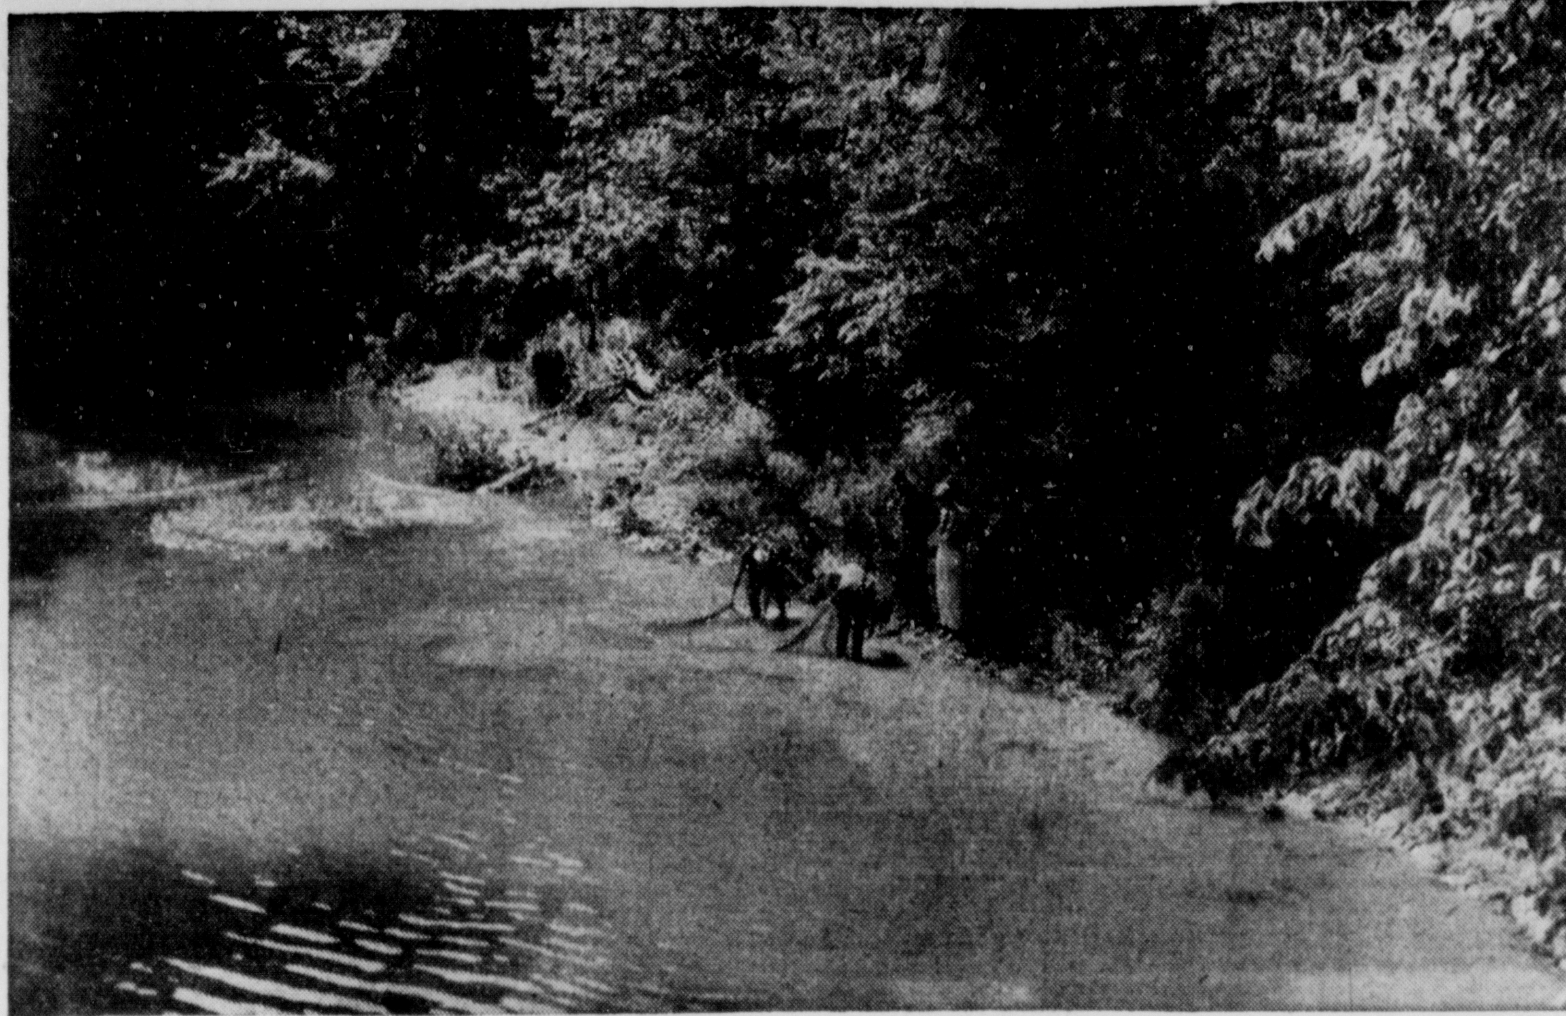

In Garrett County two areas were located on Savage Mountain in the vicinity of the Savage River Dam while in Frederick County two infected areas were observed on Sugar Loaf Mountain.

Meanwhile ground crews have gone into action and will take samples of the wilted trees. The samples will be sent to the University of Maryland where cultures will be made to determine whether or not oak wilt is the cause.

Johnson said that trees found to be affected during a survey made last year and treated have not spread the disease to other trees in the immediate area.

Oak trees within 50 feet of an infected area are treated with chemicals in an effort to combat the wilt, and keep it from spreading.

During the latter part of next month, another check of the four counties is expected to be undertaken, Johnson pointed out.

85 4-H Boys Will Attend Camp July 11

Pleasant Valley Will Be Location

Approximately 85 boys are expected to attend the annual Tri-County Boys 4-H Club Camp slated July 11 to July 17 at the Pleasant Valley Recreation Center in Garrett County.

Joseph M. Steger, county agent, said those attending will be from Allegany, Garrett, and Washington counties. A full week of swimming, crafts, rifle marksmanship, nature study, and various demonstrations are being arranged with campfire programs slated after dusk.

Camp director will be James A. McHenry, assistant Garrett County agent, while Steger will be camp manager. Paul Stickle, city, qualified Red Cross lifeguard will be in charge of swimming.

Rev. Ralph S. Illingsworth, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Frostburg, will be in charge of the rifle program. He is a qualified National Rifle Association instructor.

Crafts will be taught by Roscoe Brown, assistant Washington County agent; John Carter, Garrett County agent, and Steger. James Wearnert, who will soon assume duties as assistant county agent here will also be counselor.

A Maryland state trooper is being asked to put on a safety demonstration during one of the afternoon sessions and an archery exhibition is also expected. Vesper services will be held.

Mrs. Edith Lechlier and Mrs. Nola Smith, city, will undertake the chore of cooking meals for the campers in cabins. A large lodge hall will be used as a dining room and for activities in the event of inclement weather.

Steger asks that Allegany County 4-H Club members desiring to attend this year's camp make reservations with him at the Court House by July 6.

Town Creek Tour Made

State officials and area sportsmen yesterday made a tour of Town Creek Valley and got first-hand information of the possibility of improving the stream for better fishing and also getting a re-stocking program underway. The above picture shows the group seining the creek at a point on the old Alfred Frazee farm located off Williams Road. The seining equipment is used to scrape the stream bottom and learn the species of fish which best survive. The picture below shows the men checking over the equipment. Left to right are Ted Thorrig, game warden; J. Millard Hughes, president of the Town Creek Valley Farmers Association; Nelson Swink, regional fish culturist; Joseph A. Minke, regional game warden and Edwin M. Barry, chairman of Inland Fish Management of Maryland. A meeting was held last night at Sliders Hall, Pumpkin Center, to discuss the findings of yesterday's tour of the valley.

Dairy Foreman Dies In Hospital Of Bullet Wound

Edgar T. Kidwell Victim Of Suicide

Edgar T. Kidwell, 60, of Pinto Lane, RD 5, Cumberland, died yesterday at 4:55 p. m. in Memorial Hospital, where he had been admitted with a gunshot wound of the head.

He was plant superintendent of the Queen City Cooperative Dairy, Inc., on South Mechanic Street.

Detective Leo E. P. Law was called to the plant about 7 a. m. yesterday after Kidwell was taken there from the plant by two company drivers, James Carbaugh and William Soethe, both of Cumberland. He staggered into an alleyway from a storage room in the "old plant."

Shot In Forehead

Kidwell, police said, was shot in the forehead near the right temple with a .22 calibre Remington bolt action rifle. The bullet, apparently deflected, went around the front of the skull and emerged at the left temple.

One empty cartridge was found in the gun chamber. Two other shells were in Kidwell's trouser pockets.

Victim of a heart ailment, Kidwell was released from the hospital about a week ago after suffering an attack. Investigators reported he was despondent due to ill health.

Police said Kidwell, who remained conscious after the shooting, stated he wounded himself.

Dr. H. V. Deming, deputy county medical examiner, ruled the death suicide as the result of an intercranial hemorrhage.

Born In Slanesville

A son of the late Francis and Isabella (McDonald) Kidwell, he was born near Slanesville, W. Va., on February 2, 1894.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Emma (Blough) Kidwell, two sons, Ivan Kidwell, Keyser, and Robert Kidwell, RD 5, Cumberland, two daughters, Mrs. Lawrence Beverlin, Pitcairn, Pa., and Mrs. Charles Wilson, Norfolk, Virginia, a brother, Lem Kidwell, Short Gap, two sisters, Mrs. Ethel Day, Cumberland, and Mrs. Elizabeth Queen, Allentown, Pa., and eight grandchildren.

The body will remain at the George Funeral Home, where friends will be received after 4 p. m. today.

Services will be held tomorrow at 2:30 p. m. in Pinto Mennonite Church, of which Mr. Kidwell was a member. Rev. C. M. Helmick will officiate, and interment will be in the church cemetery.

The family requests that flowers be omitted.

Local Man's Story Told In July Popular Science

Miles S. Amick, who lives on Hillcrest Drive, will have his story of how he learned 21 trades told in the July issue of Popular Science Monthly.

Amick's trades range from aluminum welding to sandblasting, and he learned them all while rebuilding his car — a 1905 Franklin.

It took over three years to complete the job, and 21 trades isn't all that Amick learned. As he puts it, "The big thing that the job of restoring the car taught me was patience. I have learned a lot of that."

Amick thinks his antique car is worth all the work he put into it. People come from miles around just to see it, and besides, Amick is a believer in the air-cooled type of automobile, of which the Franklin is the best-known U. S. model.

He is a past treasurer of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce and is associated with his father in the Allegany Building Loan and Savings Company.

Hungry Thief Has Taste For Barbecue Sauce, Takes Pan

The thief had a taste for barbecue sauce.

So he broke in the front window of the Frosty Mug Snack Bar on the Baltimore Pike at Nave's Crossroads sometime between 1 a. m. and 7:30 a. m. yesterday and stole a five-pound kettleful from the store's refrigerator.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mason, owners and operators of the snack bar, said the pan of barbecue sauce was the only thing they could find missing after being notified by State Roads Commission workers that the front window glass was broken at their establishment.

Whoever the culprit was, he did not take a valuable watch lying on the cash register in the business place, the Masons stated. The sauce had been prepared for the day's business by Mrs. Mason before the couple closed the store at midnight Monday.

The Masons said they took the cash drawer with them and outside of the equipment in the building nothing of value was left there.

State Trooper Jack Browning is investigating the breaking and entering.

Philip Perlman Supports Byrd For Governor

Mahoney Blasts "Tired Old Hands"

BALTIMORE, June 22 (AP)—Philip B. Perlman, former U.S. solicitor general, plugged Dr. H. C. Byrd's candidacy tonight and George P. Mahoney said too many "tired old hands" are backing Byrd.

In general, it was a quiet day in the Byrd-Mahoney battle for the Democratic nomination for governor.

"Our state, as a result of four years of Republican failures and Republican misrule, faces financial disaster," Perlman told a party meeting in Baltimore.

Surplus Gone

"The last Democratic governor left the state with a surplus of almost 13 million dollars. That surplus is all but gone. The next state administration will face a deficit which may reach from 16 to 20 million dollars," said Perlman.

"We simply cannot afford another four years of Republican administration," he declared. "I believe that Dr. Byrd is the candidate able and equipped to lead the Democratic party and the people of Maryland out of the wilderness and into the promised land of good, honest and efficient government."

Mahoney repeated his generalization about "the coterie of party bosses" backing Byrd, then went into detail, mentioning E. Brooke Lee, manager of Byrd campaign headquarters; Baltimore political leader James H. (Jack) Pollack, former Rep. Lansdale G. Sasser, former Gov. William Preston Lane Jr., and State Sen. George W. Della of Baltimore.

Lee's home county has a majority of registered Democrats, said Mahoney, but they "are so disgusted with their leadership" that they have voted Republican in every general election in recent memory.

"It is now 12 years since Montgomery County has elected a single Democrat to the State Legislature," he said.

Republicans Win

Under Sasser's leadership Prince Georges County—"with a large majority of registered Democrats"—has a Republican congressman and elected five Republicans to its seven-member legislative delegation, he said.

"Mr. Pollack delivered his district to (Republican) Gov. McKeldin in 1950 and has been richly rewarded in patronage for this treachery," said Mahoney.

He said Lane, general manager of the Byrd campaign, "was completely repudiated by the voters" in 1950, when "he was the worst defeated Democratic gubernatorial candidate in Maryland's history."

Mahoney said Della became Senate president "by making a deal for Republican votes in the Senate."

"These and scores of lesser bosses let the Democratic party like their own private preserve," said Mahoney. "They would rather see the party go down to defeat than admit new blood, progressive leadership and a fighting, courageous spirit."

The campaign was spiced by statements from Gately Flynn, candidate for the party nomination to congress from the 2nd District, and John O. Rutherford, Mahoney campaign leader in his 1952 bid for the U. S. Senate.

Favors Mahoney

Flynn said, contrary to a statement by Lee on a television program last night, he has not abandoned the Mahoney camp for Byrd.

"Furthermore, my name was used without my authorization as one of those who purportedly had switched allegiance from the candidacy of Mahoney to that of Byrd," said Flynn. "I state categorically that this is not true."

Rutherford declared his support for Byrd, saying he considered him the better candidate because of "administrative experience . . . familiarity with the problems and perplexities of our state government," and his understanding "of the hopes and desires of the people of Maryland."

Allegheny Airlines Receives Aviation Award For Safety

Allegheny Airlines has again been awarded the Aviation Safety Award by the National Safety Council for completing 1953 without a passenger or crew fatality.

Allegheny has maintained a perfect safety record since inaugurating passenger services in 1949 and through 1953, completed a total of 123,773,000 passenger miles.

In announcing the award the National Safety Council stated that 39 United States Scheduled Domestic and Territorial airlines had qualified for the Aviation Safety Award in 1953 for one of the best safety records in the industry's history.

Members of the National Safety Council Aviation Award Committee are Lt. General James H. Doolittle and Harry F. Guggenheim.

Farmers Urged To Use Baits To Kill Flies

County Agent Steger Commends Low Cost

County Agent Joseph M. Steger is touring many Allegany County farms these days telling and showing the owners how they can reduce the fly population around their barns with the use of sweetened baits.

Last summer, a special demonstration was conducted on the farm of William E. Shumaker of Rawlings to show the effectiveness of the program.

This summer, before consulting with farmers, the new county agent discussed the matter with Dr. George S. Langford of College Park, the state entomologist.

Sweetened baits provide a new and low cost method for control of flies in dairy and livestock barns. A sugar solution poison with malathion has been effective in freeing barns of flies. A satisfactory liquid bait may be prepared by mixing one gallon of water, one pound of granulated sugar and two table-spoons of 50 per cent emulsifiable malathion.

If emulsifiable malathion is not available, a satisfactory bait may be had by substituting two ounces of 25 per cent wettable powder in the solution.

The amount of bait needed to treat a barn varies with its size, but two or three gallons of bait is usually sufficient for the average 40-to-50-stall dairy barn.

A single application of the bait ordinarily provides effective control for from three to 10 days.

Malathion baits are fast-acting. Normally flies begin to drop and die within 10 minutes after the bait is applied. Usually, from 80 to 90 per cent of the flies in a barn will be dead and on the floor within one to two hours.

Most barns, depending on size, can be treated effectively at a cost of from 40 to 80 cents per application.

Leo Stakem Attends National Conference

Leo B. Stakem, city, a student at Frostburg State Teachers College and president of the Maryland Association of Future Teachers of America, plans to attend a national conference in Albany, N. Y., which opens today for a three-day session.

Plans will be made for attracting more young people to the teaching profession. The conference is sponsored by the Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards of the National Education Association.

The theme of the meeting will be, "Competent Teachers for America's Schools." Five laymen and ten educators from Maryland expect to attend.

Cyclist, 13, Hurt When Hit By Auto

A 13-year-old Williams Road boy was severely injured yesterday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding collided with an automobile on Williams Road just east of the city limits.

State Police Trooper Jack Browning, who investigated, said the boy, Ersal John Shewbridge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ersal J. Shewbridge Sr., RFD 2, Williams Road, suffered a fractured arm, severe lacerations of the arm and possible fractured leg. The youth was admitted to Memorial Hospital where attaches listed his condition as "good."

Trooper Browning said the automobile was driven by Clarence Kenneth Sibley, 16, RFD 4, city. Sibley was traveling west on Williams Road when he saw the Shewbridge boy, riding his bicycle, approaching along the highway.

Sibley told authorities he stopped his car but the bicycle collided with the front of the car. Shewbridge was thrown over the handle bars of the bike when it hit the automobile's left front fender. He struck the windshield of the car, the impact breaking the glass resulting in severe cuts on the boy's arm.

No charges have been placed against the driver of the automobile, police stated.

August 1-7 Is Set Aside As Annual Md. Land Week

August 1-7 has been designated as "Maryland Land Week," according to a proclamation signed by Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin.

Highlighting the Land Week activities will be tours of farms in Harford, Baltimore, Howard, Montgomery and Carroll counties. Good land management practices are going to be observed on the farms and soil conservation specialists will discuss the practices.

Plans for Allegany County's participation in the activities will be made during a meeting July 8 in the office of County Agent Joseph M. Steger.
